Searching for solutions to silting problems in Kincaid Lake

A large number of concerned citizens and Kentucky officials met at the Kincaid Park Multi-Purpose Building on Tuesday, August 21 to discuss the possible solutions to the silting problems in Kincaid Lake. Heavy floods in past years have caused a great deal of damage along with the day to day water movements caused by boats traveling on the lake itself. Over the years the lake has become laden with debris of various kinds and silting has built up along the banks in several locations to the point that many of the landowners are unable any longer to put their boats out onto the water.

Many of the lakes in Kentucky belong to the state, whereas Kincaid, one of about five, is the property of the Fish and Wildlife Department. Therefore a representative from Fish and Wildlife was on hand to lead the causes of the silting problems and discussion on the options for solutions. Also present were Senator Katie Stine, State Rep. Tom McKee, Pendleton County Judge Executive Henry Bertram and Kentucky Park Commissioner Elaine Walker.

Three options were discussed that were possible solutions to solving some of the problems with the lake. One was that of dredging, which would be too costly at this time. With a price tag of $10 million plus, funds are not available for this procedure. A second option discussed was that of draining the lake and cleaning it out. This would cause a loss of the lake for at least two years with it being very unlikely that the ground would ever dry out

Fiscal Court holds special meeting discussing the long term tornado recovery team reports

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Pendleton County Fiscal Court held a special meeting at the Northern Pendleton Firehouse on August 14 at 7:00 p.m. This article regarding that meeting is taken directly from the minutes of Pendleton County Fiscal Court Clerk Vicky King:

Judge Bertram introduced the Long Term Recovery Team and each of them explained what is being done to assist the Peach Grove area with long term recovery.

Jo Ellen Dawson, chairperson, informed the court and audience members that Impact Kentucky will be in the area on August 25 to help with clean up effort.

Mike Moore, EMA director, explained that he is using all means necessary to contact the citizens in the area to identify any needs they may have and then match volunteers with the needs.

Ned Sheehy, senior executive vice president, Community Ventures was present to explain a grant opportunity available to anyone who is still in the rebuilding or rehab process. This program is in conjunction with Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati. Jill Cravens, representing the Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati, was present to explain that there is (5) five million dollars available for disaster construction. Grant Eligibility is based on household income, family size and county numbers as determined by 130% of mortgage revenue bonds. These grants are for the property and not the person.

Brian Thompson, county zoning administrator, explained that permits are still needed to rebuild in the area, however, the county has exempted zoning regulations in the affected area. A number of the builders in the area are assuming that because the county has exempted zoning regulations the state has done the same, this is not the case and all standard business practices must be followed.

Janelle Gardner, FSA representative, was on hand to explain what her services are doing for the farmers affected by the tornado. There has been $283,000.00 approved for debris removal in cropping fields and fencing.

Judge Bertram explained that the county has received a 30-day extension on the debris removal grant and this has allowed for dumpsters to be placed in the area to assist the citizens with debris removal. Various groups will be in the area on August 25th to assist with clean up. The county road department employees will be picking up debris that has been gathered along the road sides. A front end loader will be rented and paid out of the grant funds to assist in this pick up and Judge Bertram will be volunteering his time to operate the loader as a member of the Long Term Recovery Committee.

Chief Records ask about the percentage of people who have completed clean up, rebuilding and debris removal. Jo Ellen Dawson stated that she believes somewhere between 60 to 65% are completely recovered.

Daryl Florence, HVAC inspector stated that the major problem he is experiencing is the lack

CNET's top quality and price picks for digital camera

By: Lori Grunin, Senior Editor

As the name implies, here's where you find the best of the best, our top digital cameras across the board. To make it here, a camera really has to blow our socks off. That doesn't happen very often. If it did, our notion of "best" wouldn't mean much, would it? So check back periodically to see if any new models have left us barefoot and speechless.

Best prosumer dSLR

An excellent dSLR for experienced shooters or Nikon professionals looking for a relatively cheap option, the Nikon D7000 delivers on almost all counts, including the company's best shooting design to date. $839-$1,099.95

Best dSLR under $1000

For the money, the Canon EOS Rebel T3i is a great choice for dSLR videographers, and it's a solid choice for creative still shooters. $579-$848

Best prosumer compact

Though we'd like it to perform better, dSLR shooters looking for a sidekick camera will find the Canon PowerShot S95's top-flight photos and a full manual feature set worth the tradeoff of its compact size. $347.50-$379

Best interchangeable-lens compact

With a lot to like and just a little to dislike, the Sony Alpha NEX-7 comes up a winner, albeit an expensive one. $1,189.99-$1,349.99

Best consumer compact

The Canon PowerShot SX260 HS' wider, longer lens, a few much-needed design tweaks, and excellent photo quality add up to one pretty great compact megazoom. $274.99-$349.99

If you're undecided CNET offers this basic guideline for details to look at when purchasing a new digital camera.

I want a camera that's easy to use but that I can grow into if I get hooked on digital photography. I want to be able to print good-looking photos at sizes smaller than 8x10 inches on my inexpensive inkjet printer, but I'd like prints that will look OK if I decide to print larger or get a better printer. I want to spend less than $500.

The specs that matter

Resolution: It doesn't matter. Most cameras on the market today have sufficient resolution for your needs.

Price: $250 to $500

Lens: 5X or greater zoom, encompassing at least 28mm to 140mm (35mm equivalent)

Storage media: SDHC/SDXC

Interfaces: USB, NTSC/PAL television connection

Exposure controls: Automatic, aperture- and shutter-priority, manual, choice of metering modes, autobracketing

Focus controls: Automatic, manual

Flash modes: Automatic, fill, slow sync

Multimedia: 720p (1,280x720) video-clip recording

Cool features to look for: Remote control, dynamic histogram display, compatibility with lens converters and accessories, built-in help features, mechanical or optical image stabilization, face detection, 1080i or better HD movie capture, HDMI or component output to HDTV, raw file support enough to make it possible to bring in the necessary equipment to clean out the lake.

The third option, the most logical solution, was that of raising the water in the lake. In order to raise the lake every landowner affected would have to agree to allowing the lake to rise on their land as was necessary to bring the lake up 1.7 feet. Not everyone with waterfront property on Kincaid would be affected by the change in the lake. Those who would be affected would have to do with the elevation of their land and of the lake level at the location of their property. If even one landowner refused the project, it would be a "no go." This project would be completed at an estimated cost of $150,000.

There appears to be no quick solution. Even if the project were begun now it would take until at least until July 2014 to obtain permits and the permission of each landowner involved as well obtaining the funds necessary. No solution offered is a permanent one. With any of the three possible solutions a heavy flooding could recreate the present problems all over again.

Not everyone was agreeable to the option of raising the lake water. Judge Bertram told those present that Fish and Wildlife were there to help with the problem and encouraged everyone to listen to their suggestions. "We've got a bird in hand, let's take the bird in hand and look in the bush later." He feels the raising of the water isn't the stop point. But it should be accepted for now as a temporary reprieve from some of the present problems.

Judge Bertram and Pendleton County Community Development Director Bill Mitchell are gathering the names of landowners on the lake, of which there approximately 140, and plan to travel to Frankfort and meet with Keith Parker an engineer with the Department of Fish and Wildlife. Later they hope to meet with those whose land will be directly affected by the raising of the lake for further discussion.

OPINION

Remember to go vote in November

Dear Editor,
In February 2011, there was what I saw on the news, an almost riot like protests at the Wisconsin state capitol. These weren't radical sub groups of society. The protesters were Wisconsin state employees. They were protesting the bill that their newly elected republican governor was pushing through to balance the states budget. The bill took away health care and other benefits from the state employees along with their tight to collective bargaining to negotiate their wages, benefits and working conditions. One report I read implied that the state employees were being used as scapegoats for an anti union governor.

Presidential Republican candidate Mitt Romney recently announced his choice for vice president was a Wisconsin congressman named Paul Ryan. Although Representative Ryan is a member of the United States Congress, and may not have been the one pushing the bill through the Wisconsin legislature, it is easy to figure out that as a Republican politician from the state where this took place, these are the kind of measures that he probably favors.

When election time comes we need to ask ourselves that as working class citizens, if we want an administration that will take away rights from workers that are already going more work for less money than they were 12 years ago.

I am not writing this to give a free pass to President Obama, unions, or non union organizations. There is good and bad on both sides of the union no union fence. As for President Obama, I am supporting him only as the lesser of two evils. I don't know of anything he has done in his office towards helping our economy. The only domestic ideas and policies I have seen him succeed as is to give a gift to the insurance companies at our expense with his so called "Health Care," and to offer his blatant grotesque support for homosexuality.

Whether you agree with my opinion or not, be sure to vote in November!

PCHS volleyball team cleaned up road

Dear Editor,

It doesn't take the new PCHS volleyball team long to jump into action. On Wednesday evening, July 18, the High School volleyball team was chosen for the new 2012/2013 season. On Thursday, July 19, players, coaches and parents were picking up trash in Pendleton County.

The day began with rain but cleared for a somewhat pleasant evening of team bonding and community service. Many of the players were old pros with the green vests and some experienced their first trash pickup.

Thanks to all those who participated. And thanks to the county for allowing us the opportunity to raise money for our team needs and helping our County.

Jenny Schlueter,
Team leader PCHS 2012 volleyball team

Urging locals to recycle, not to litter

Dear Editor,

I'm writing to you about my concerns about littering in our community. Monday, July 16, a group from my church conducted a garbage pick up on one of our local roads. I was surprised by what we found. We filled 12 bags with aluminum cans, plastic bottled and various other items, including a bag with a dead opossum.

The majority of the objects we found were recyclable or reusable. Recycling is available in our community for aluminum cans and plastics. Please remind our citizens to take the extra five minutes to dispose of their items properly. Together we can keep our town clean and our wildlife safe.

Sincerely,

Michelle Dunn

HIGHLIGHTS

Railroad's in and out of Falmouth

The Louisville and Nashville Railroad (reporting mark LN) was a Class I railroad that operated freight and passenger services in the south-east United States.

Chartered by the state of Kentucky in 1850, the road grew into one of the great success stories of American business. Operating under one name continuously for 132 years, it survived civil war and economic depression and several waves of social and technological change. Under Milton H. Smith, president of the company for thirty years, the L&N grew from a road with less than three hundred miles of track to a 6,000-mile system serving thirteen states. As one of the premier Southern railroads, the L&N extended its reach far beyond its namesake cities, stretching to St. Louis, Missouri; Memphis, Tennessee; Atlanta, Georgia; and New Orleans, Louisiana. The railroad was economically strong throughout its lifetime, operating both freight and passenger trains in a manner that earned it the nickname, "The Old Reliable."

Its first line extended barely south of Louisville, Kentucky, and it took until 1859 to span the 180-odd miles to its second namesake city of Nashville.

Falmouth, 40 rail miles south of Cincinnati was on the railroad's Kentucky Central (KC) Subdivision. A frame depot built in 1912 was originally designed with express and baggage rooms, three waiting rooms and an office for the agent. The agent, George Parsons, divided his time between Falmouth and Cynthiana. In 1968, L&N's last passenger trains, Nos. 17 & 18 (the Cincinnati-Atlanta Flamingo) were discontinued. One result of this service elimination was that most of the depot's 1900 square feet were no longer needed by the railroad.

Many residents have memories of riding the train to Covington and Cincinnati to work, leaving on Sunday and returning back to the county on Friday evening. Many used the train for an escape to a day of visiting with relatives and friends. A mode of transportation that at one time was so valuable to our community came to a halt with the production of automobiles and more and more residents buying them.

The local residents always had a warm spot in their hearts for the old depot, so they were delighted when word was received that the station would be designated a Kentucky landmark. Sponsor for the Kentucky Heritage Commission was the Rebecca Bryan Boone Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. This group had worked long and hard to earn the certificate, which was presented to Agent Parsons and local officials around 1973. The certificate was framed and was on display within the depot. Before anything much could be done the depot burned to the ground.

There were about 250 miles (400 km) of track in the system by the outbreak of the Civil War, and its strategic location, spanning the Union/Confederate lines, made it of great interest to both governments. During the Civil War, different parts of the network were pressed into service by both armies at various times, and considerable damage from wear, battle, and sabotage occurred. However, the company benefited from being based in the Union state of Kentucky, and the fact that Nashville fell to Union forces within the first year of the war and remained in their hands for its duration. It profited from Northern haulage contracts for troops and supplies, paid in sound Federal "greenbacks," as opposed to the rapidly-depreciating Confederate dollars. After the war, it found that its Southern competitors were devastated to the point of collapse, and the general economic depression meant that labor and materials to repair its roads could be had fairly cheaply.

Buoyed by these fortunate circumstances, the firm began an expansion that never really stopped. Within thirty years the network reached from Ohio and Missouri to Louisiana and Florida. By 1884, the firm had such importance that it was included in the Dow Jones Transportation Average, the first American stock market index. It was so active a customer of the Rogers Locomotive and Machine Works, the country's second largest locomotive maker, that in 1879 the firm presented L&N with a free locomotive as a thank-you bonus.

At the end of 1925 L&N operated 5038 miles of road on 7885 miles of track; LH&StL operated 199 route-miles on 268 track-miles. At the end of 1970 L&N's totals were 6063 and 10051, not including The Carrollton RR.

Railroads were much interested in coal, of course, as all locomotives were steam-powered, and wood-burning models had been found unsatisfactory. The L&N guaranteed not only its own fuel sources but a steady revenue stream by pushing its lines into the difficult but coal-rich terrain of eastern Kentucky, and also well into northern Alabama. There the small town of Birmingham had recently been founded amidst undeveloped deposits of coal, iron ore and limestone, the basic ingredients of steel production. The arrival of L&N transport and investment capital helped create a great industrial city and the South's first postwar urban success story. The railroad's access to good coal enabled it to claim for a few years starting in 1940 the nation's longest unrefueled run, about 490 miles (790 km) from Louisville to Montgomery, Alabama.

In the Gilded Age of the late nineteenth century there were no such things as anti-trust or fair-competition laws and very little in the way of financial regulation. Business was a keen and mean affair, and the L&N proved a most formidable competitor. It could and did simply freeze out upstarts like the Tennessee Central Railway Company from critical infrastructure like urban stations. Where that wasn't possible, as with the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway (which was older than the L&N), it simply used its financial muscle—in 1880 it acquired a controlling interest in its chief competitor. A public outcry resulted sufficient to convince the L&N directors that there were limits even to their power. They discreetly continued the NC&StL as a separate subsidiary, but now working with, instead of in competition with, the L&N.

Ironically, in 1902 financial speculations by financier J.P. Morgan delivered control of the L&N to its rival Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, but that company made no attempt to control L&N operations, and for many decades there were no consequences of this change.

The World Wars brought heavy demand to the L&N. Its widespread and robust network coped well with the demands of war transport and production, and the resulting profits harked back to the boost it had received from the Civil War. In the postwar period, the line shifted gradually to diesel power, and the new streamlined engines pulled some of the most elegant passenger trains of the last great age of passenger rail, such as the Dixie Flyer, the Humming Bird, and the Pan-American.

Though well past its hundredth anniversary, the line was still growing. In 1957, the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis was finally fully merged. In the 1960s, acquisitions in Illinois allowed a long-sought entry into the premier railroad nexus of Chicago, and some of the battered remains of the old rival, the Tennessee Central, were sold to the L&N as well.

In 1971 the Seaboard Coast Line Railroad, successor to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, purchased the remainder of the L&N shares it did not already own, and the company became a subsidiary. During this period, in common with other lines, the L&N was cutting back passenger service. Amtrak, the government-formed passenger railway service, took over the few remaining L&N passenger trains in 1971. In 1979, amid great lamentations in the press, it ceased passenger service to its namesake cities when Amtrak discontinued The Floridian, which had connected Louisville with Nashville, and thence to Florida via Birmingham.

By 1982 the railroad industry was consolidating quickly, and the Seaboard Coast Line absorbed the Louisville & Nashville Railroad entirely. The merged company was known as "SCL/L&N", "Family Lines," and was depicted as such on the railroad's rolling stock. During the next few years several smaller acquisitions resulted in the creation of the Seaboard System Railroad. Yet more consolidation was ahead, and in 1986, the Seaboard System merged into the C&O/B&O combined system known as the "Chessie System." The combined company became CSX Transportation (CSX), which now owns and operates all of the former Louisville and Nashville lines.

Few industries have as large and devoted a body of historians and fans as railroading does, and the long and colorful saga of the Louisville & Nashville has generated much interest. A number of historical groups and publications devoted to the line exist, and L&N equipment is well represented in the popular model railroading hobby.

The L&N Railroad is also the subject of at least two songs, the 2003 Rhonda Vincent bluegrass song "Kentucky Borderline", and "The L&N Don't Stop Here Anymore" by Jean Ritchie and performed by Michelle Shocked.

The educated and common man who contributed to America's freedom

The radical leaders that chose to take a stand against Great Britain for the purpose of being a free nation were a wide variation of men. Some were simple men of little education and others were men of higher education that were born for politics. All of them played an important role and contributed their share to our history.

John Witherspoon, born in Scotland and educated there, was an interesting character among those rebels. Emigrating to America in 1768 to accept the position of first president of the College of New Jersey, known today as Princeton, he at first abstained from political concerns. In time though, he came to support the revolutionary cause, accepting appointment to the committees of correspondence and safety in early 1776. He was a very active member of congress, serving on more than a hundred committees through his tenure and debating frequently on the floor.

In November, 1776, he shut down and then evacuated the College of New Jersey at the approach of British forces. The British occupied the area and did much damage, nearly destroying the college. Following the war, Witherspoon devoted his life to rebuilding it. He also served twice in state legislature.

Another man who made a valuable contribution to the new nation through his involvement in education was George Wythe. Wythe was born in a wealthy agricultural Virginia family, but it was wealth that was not his to have. At the death of his parents, his older brother inherited the family fortune, but took no interest in George's education. Unable to maintain the cost of fees, young George was forced to drop out of William and Mary, but did manage to secure a study of law and so much so that he was admitted to the bar in Spotsylvania County in 1746, at the age of 20.

In 1761 he was elected to the Board of Visitors at the College of William and Mary. Eight years later the man who could never gain a degree for want of the money to do it with, became America's first Professor of law. His students included Thomas Jefferson, Henry Clay, James Monroe, John Marshal and dozens of other distinguished public servants. In 1775, Wythe was elected to attend the Continental Congress. He served for two years, voted in favor of the Resolution, and for the Declaration of Independence. In 1776, he was called back to Virginia in order to help form the new government. He was a republican in all things, and a quiet abolitionist. His stand against slavery led to his death when a family member in an attempt to poison Wythe's freed slaves accidentally poisoned George. George Wythe was revered as a man of great honor and integrity.

Another strong and vocal advocate for the abolition of slavery was William Ellery of Rhode Island. A Harvard Graduate at the age of 15, he searched for the right career for many years before he began to practice law in 1770 at the age of 43. After Samuel Ward's death in 1776, Ellery replaced Ward in the Continental Congress. Ellery was among the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence in 1776. Ellery also served as a judge of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island and by 1785 he had become an abolitionist.

As a student, Thomas Jefferson had acquired within the new America an education rivaling the finest to be attained in Europe. He was clearly the foremost American son of the Enlightenment. He was fluent in five languages and able to read two others. He was a lawyer, agronomist, musician, scientist, philosopher, author, architect, inventor and statesman. He attended William and Mary College in Williamsburg at sixteen years old, then continued his education in the Law under George Wythe, who would later sign Jefferson's Declaration. Jefferson was never a very vocal politician, but his writing, his quiet work in committee, and his ability to distill large volumes of information to essence, made him an invaluable member in any deliberative body.

In 1776, then a member of the committee to draft a declaration of independence, Jefferson was chosen to write the draft, which he did with some minor corrections from John Adams and an embellishment from Benjamin Franklin. In later years he would serve as the governor of Virginia, the vice-president and president of the United States. He died on the 4th of July, as the nation celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his splendid declaration.

Some men, such as Roger Sherman had a very limited education. Growing up in a small frontier town, he had no public school to attend, but did have access to his father's library, a good one by the standard of the day. When Roger was about thirteen years old the town built a "grammar school" which he attended for a time. He was fortunate to have a parish minister who trained at Harvard to help him acquire some facility with mathematics, sciences, literature and philosophy.

In spite of his limited education, Sherman eventually practiced law and wrote and published a very popular Almanac yearly from 1750 to 1761. His first experience with an official office came in 1743 when he was appointed surveyor of New Haven County. He was later appointed justice of the peace and justice of the Superior Court of Connecticut and was elected to the Continental Congress in 1774. Many of the most notable figures of the revolution such as Adam, Jefferson, Madison, admitted a deep admiration for Roger Sherman and his work. From their notes he appears to have been the picture of New England pragmatism, but never hesitating to stand-and stand again-for his principles.

Other men attended private schools, such as Richard Henry Lee of Virginia who enjoyed many important committee appointments. Noted for his oratory skills, it was he who offered the Resolutions for Independence to the committee of the whole in 1776. He served in Congress through the course of the War and in 1783 he was selected as president of Congress.

Matthew Thornton and Josiah Bartlett, two of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, were physicians. Bartlett studied the science of medicine and practiced medicine in New Hampshire and became involved in politics and was elected a member of the Colonial Legislature. He was noted as a principled legislator, not susceptible to pressure from the Royal Governor, and as an active advocate against British oppression. He was the first to sign the Declaration after John Hancock.

Thornton, an Irish immigrant, received an academic education in Massachusetts and became a physician in New Hampshire. He later held royal commissions as justice of the peace and colonel of militia. In 1775, he was asked to draft a plan of government for New Hampshire after dissolution of the royal government. His plan was adopted immediately and became the first constitution for that state (and was in fact the first new state constitution after the start of hostilities with Britain.) Thornton was selected as the president of the New Hampshire House of Representatives, and as a justice to the Superior Court, under the new constitution. He was also sent to the Continental Congress-too late to participate in the debates over Independence, but just in time to sign the Declaration on behalf of New Hampshire.

William Paca and Francis Hopkinson, signers of the Declaration, were future federal judges. Paca, a representative from Maryland, wrote and organized against a poll-tax originated by the royal governor just prior to the outbreak of hostilities. He was a local leader in the patriot movement in the late 1770's. He was appointed to the Continental Congress in 1774 and reelected and served there until 1779 when he was appointed chief justice of the State of Maryland. He was appointed federal district judge for the State of Maryland from 1789 until his death in 1799.

Hopkinson was a man of extraordinary talent and charm. He was the first scholar and first graduate of the College of Philadelphia, which his father, along with good friend, Benjamin Franklin, played a role in chartering. He was a writer of music, poetry and satire. After the war he was an active advocate, in speaking and in writing, for the New Federal Constitution. He was commissioned a Judge of Admiralty in Pennsylvania in 1780, and Washington appointed him Federal District Judge for his native state in 1790.

The last surviving member of those who survived the Declaration was Charles Carroll of Maryland. Born into a wealthy Roman Catholic family in Annapolis, he began his rather remarkable formal education at the age of eight, when he was sent to France and continued practical studies in Europe until his return to America at the age of 28. He is said to have identified at once with the radical cause in the colonies and began immediately to work among the patriots. Carroll visited the Continental Congress in 1776 and after a mission to Canada was elected to represent Maryland on the 4th of July. He was too late to vote for the Declaration, but did sign it.

Northern Elementary students and teachers get ready for the new year with Ready Fest

If Ready Fest at Northern Elementary was any sign of what the 2012-2013 school year will be...."it will be a Paws-itively GREAT year" as Northern celebrates the theme of their new mascot-- the Northern Bobcats! We could not have asked for an event to have been any better. This year was one of our best events as the weather was great, people didn't have to run in the rain to attend the event, most importantly, everywhere we looked we heard chatter and laughter and saw smiles on the faces of teachers, support staff, parents, and children throughout the building. It doesn't get much better than that!!

The North Family Resource/ Youth Services Center sponsors and coordinates the back to school Ready Fest each year held at Northern Elementary. This is a huge event filled with opportunity to become informed about the area and the school, and it's filled with lots of fun for the students in particular, but we definitely take Mom and Dad into consideration also. In order to provide information and services, the vendors in the gym area are a wonderful part of the program as the parents can find out about anything from bus route information, to information from local churches, area agencies, and also about clubs and sports for their children, and all this while they are being presented pencils, notebooks, candy, pamphlets, all kinds of goodies to fill their bags they are presented by the North FRYSC as they entered the gym area.

Oh, lets' get to the fun part... that was all held in the cafeteria where the students and families enjoyed Karaoke with outstanding performances from children and students of all ages, with individual singers, as well as groups and even one adult even brought "the King back!" Creating your own bead bracelet was really big this year, as well as, balloon figures and balloon hats for the children, and we couldn't forget the traditional tattoos that adorned so many wrists, arms, and faces. (Now as usual, this could not have been done if it wasn't for all the volunteers who worked the tables for these activities throughout the event. This is a great Thank YOU to all of the volunteers, including: teachers, teacher's aides, custodians, cafeteria staff, custodial staff, and parent volunteers. Oops...let's not forget the FOOD.....there were free hot dogs, chips, and drinks for all to enjoy as they listened to the music, watched their kids have fun, and just relaxed. On top of all that, the Pendleton County Sheriff's Dept. provided free photo ID cards for all who stopped by the library.

Now, as we all know, school has been beginning mid-week the past few years. Well, we definitely didn't plan that in our mental calendar. With the event being on Friday evening we weren't sure how we would get the school back in shape for the first day on Monday. This was not the challenge we thought it would be as volunteers stepped up to the plate to help Darlene and Joan of the Resource Center, including the custodial staff, the Northern SACC staff, and even Dennie Parker of the transportation dept., assisted as all the tables were put back in place, chairs stacked, garbage dumped and taken out, signs taken off walls, yes...even floors cleaned....and finally, the lights were turned out. Once again....this really was a great event! As usual, WE, the North Family Resource Center, could never do all that we do for students, families, and the community, if it wasn't for all of the support we get from the local churches, clubs, agencies, and individuals who donate and volunteer their money and time to make this event, as well as others throughout the year, possible. Thank YOU, and have a great year!!

Spanish classes available for young students

Junior varsity volleyball wins first game of season

JV Ladycats bring home second place from tournament

The first game of this tournament was played on Friday, August 17. The Ladycats faced off against Garrard County and pulled away with a win of 3-0. The first goal was scored by Madison Wirth with an assist from Katie Boggs. The second goal was scored by Erin Fitzpatrick with an assist from Madison Wirth. The final goal was scored by Allison "Speedy" Lenox with an assist from Erin Fitzpatrick. This would also be Goalie, Amber Blackaby's first shut out of the season.

The next two games of the tournament were played on Saturday, August 18. The Ladycats played their first game against Bourbon County. They would fall to the Colonels 1-2. The lone goal was scored by Madison Wirth with an assist from Hailey Bishop.

The second and final game for the Ladycats put them in a battle against Fleming County. The Ladycats offensive dominance could not be stopped with a final score of 8-1. The first goal was scored by Hailey Bishop with a run down the middle of the field. The second goal would be scored by Erin Fitzpatrick with an assist from Hailey Bishop. The third goal was a header from Erin Fitzpatrick with an assist from Madison Wirth. Madison Wirth would then assist Kristen "Wolfie" Wolfe for the fourth goal. The fifth goal came from a corner kick taken by Hailey Bishop connecting with the head of Madison Wirth. McKayla Manor would then take the ball for a walk down the middle to score the sixth goal. An assist from Destiny Montoure would give Kendall Carr a score and the seventh goal of the game. The eighth and final goal was scored by Alex Blackaby with an assist from Kendall Carr.

Amber Blackaby had some solid saves over the weekend and earned her first shut out of the season. Haley Carr provided strong minutes for the Ladycats as she passed and crossed well from the outside wing. Hailey Bishop would be directly involved with four of the Ladycats goals and was able to be effective on the defense end as well. McKayla Manor would work the ball well in the middle and her work paid off with a goal.

Katie Boggs was able to prevent run outs and still be an offensive threat by opening up for drop passes and chipping it to the middle. Morgan Sydnor played hard as she kept the other teams on the line with the ball, forcing them to make bad touches and using a big foot to clear the ball up the field. Alex Blackaby used her big foot as well whether it was taking shots or taking the ball away with brute force from the opposing teams. Sidney Dietrich dominated the left side with beautiful crosses and hustle getting up and down the field. Madison Wirth was directly involved with six goals and used skilled foot work to keep the ball on the opposing teams' end of the field. Erin Fitzpatrick was directly involved with four goals and never gave up as she would sprint to cover the defense during run outs. Destiny Montoure would get her name in the books with an assist and would work the ball well in the forward position all weekend.

Grace Beebe's aggressive play would prove a main puzzle piece in the Ladycats continued defensive efforts. Lillie Heringer closed out many plays that would have led to one on one situation with our goalie. Molly Burgemeir was moved to a wing and fit into the new spot well with strong plays throughout the weekend. Madison Sydnor worked hard for her team as she used everything she had to prevent the ball from progressing to the backfield and to try and score. Allison "Big Bad" Wolfe showed off her foot with clears and shots from a defensive position. Kendall Carr scored her first goal of the season which would boost her play and lead to an assist to give the Ladycats another goal.

Kristen "Wolfie" Wolfe would also score her first goal, using her left foot, and worked the ball to the corner well. Hannah Miller's play improved over the weekend as she was staying up more and was involved in more of the offensive efforts of the Ladycats. Anna Askren held the center mid position well and talked more allowing her teammates to know where she was on the field.

The Ladycats would bring home the second place trophy. This is the first trophy the JV Ladycats have brought back with them since 2006. Players named to the all-tournament team were Hailey Bishop, Erin Fitzpatrick and Lillie Heringer.

On Wednesday, August 22 the Freshman Ladycats took on Bishop Brossart. The hard fought match would end in a tie. This would be the first time in over ten years the Ladycats would tie Bishop Brossart. Looking over the records, the Ladycats were usually short gamed by this team. The Ladycats were strong offensively in the first half. They put the pressure on Bishop Brossart when Madison Wirth scored off a pass from Erin Fitzpatrick to the middle top of the 18. Madison would receive the pass and go one on one with the goalie scoring in the far post corner.

The Ladycats then switched their strategy and looked to stay strong defensively. Girls were moved to different positions to help ensure the Ladycats would hold Bishop Brossart. Despite the combined defensive efforts of the team, Bishop Brossart was able to find an opening and score a goal. Their forward was guarded by Lillie Heringer. She was marked but not tight enough as a little space was all she needed to rip the ball into the corner of the net with less than five minutes left. Before this time, Madison Sydnor saved some other beautiful, hard shots the Bishop Brossart's girls had kicked her way. This particular goal was just beyond her finger tips as she dove to try and reach it. Madison Sydnor had an all-around amazing game.

The Ladycats would attempt to take the win and had the opportunity when Grace Beebe was given a pass to the middle for a shot. The pass was in the air and Grace was able to gain control but by that time Bishop Brossart's defense was able to keep her from getting the shot off. A few seconds later the whistle would blow ending the game at 1-1.

The coaches Stacey Myers and Rachel Turner were proud of the way the Ladycats played. Afterwards they had this to say, "The girls did work hard this game. They looked good. It all comes down now to finishing the games. It's finding that drive to give everything you have in those last few critical minutes."

Ladycats varsity soccer team aims for a winning season

This is how Junior, Kaitlyn Meadows described the Ladycats mission over the past few games. The Ladycats are not used to winning, as most games from last season resulted in losses. However, the Ladycats are starting to get a taste of victory and they want to continue improving their play so they can become a threat in their region and districts.

The Ladycats took on Paris Monday, August 20. The Ladycats were able to fix some of the minor details they were missing during their first game. The Ladycats were passing and communicating well with each other. This work allowed the girls to score a parade of goals.

The first goal was scored with perfect triangle passing. Sophomore, Hailey Bishop brought the ball down the side and passed to Sophomore, McKayla Manor in the middle of the field. McKayla could've took a shot here but looked up to see Senior, Tori Fitzpatrick open and in a better position to the right of her. In an unselfish play, McKayla would do a quick move to send a solid ground pass to Tori who would finish with a goal.

The second goal was scored by Freshman, Erin Fitzpatrick. She used her footskills to make moves around the Paris Greyhounds defense. She would bring the ball all the way down the middle of the field until it was just her and the goalie. She would then fake the goalie and score.

The third goal was scored from a lofty corner kick placed in the middle by Freshman, Madison Wirth. Erin Fitzpatrick would find the ball in the air, make contact with it and send it into the net.

The fourth goal was scored by simply following the ball all the way in to the goalie. The Paris Greyhounds goalie hit the ball and it dropped to the ground in front of her. Tori Fitzpatrick never assumed the goalie had the ball and had continued running. She seized the opportunity handed to her and placed the ball in the net.

The fifth goal was scored by Madison Wirth. She mimicked the goal scored by Erin Fitzpatrick earlier in the game. She too used her foot skills to make her way through the Greyhounds defense and put her in a scoring position. She would also capitalize on this opportunity and pull away with a goal.

By this time in the game, the coaching staff had switched players around to allow those who don't get as much playing time or those trying to learn new positions to play. This was the perfect time to allow this to happen with the Ladycats so far ahead. This would set up the sixth and final goal of the half. Sophomore, Amber Blackaby was in the stopper position and saw her chance for a shot open up. She was left wide open right past the half line. The ball came rolling her way, Amber met the ball and unloaded to score it was placed perfectly as it rolled over the goalie's gloves.

At halftime, the Ladycats were in the lead 6-0. The Ladycats would continue to dominate offensively in the second half as well. The Ladycats worked to allow other players to score. Sophomore, Haley Carr was no exception as she saw many opportunities. The ball was passed correctly to her and she was able to get a few shots off but the she too was unselfish and looked to set others up. She made the right drop passes and passes to the middle of the field.

Freshman, Destiny Montoure was another player looking to score. She even used juggling to make her way around the Greyhounds defenders. She too took hard shots but none would fall for her. Even Goalie, (Junior) Katie Gaskins would try to get involved in the offensive action. She dribbled the ball from the goal to the half line before having a foul called on her. This was probably a good thing as the coaches were screaming for her to get rid of the ball and get back in the goal.

The seventh goal would end up being scored by McKayla Manor with an assist from Madison Wirth. The eighth and last goal would be scored by Hailey Bishop. A foul was committed by the Greyhounds defense right outside of the 18. Bishop would take the kick and force it into the net. The Ladycats ended the game 8-0 with multiple players scoring and Goalie, Katie Gaskins earning her first shutout of the season. This game showed the coaches the players know what they are supposed to be doing. Each of the goals would be scored by doing things learned in practice. The Ladycats now need to increase their speed of play so they can accomplish these tasks against faster teams. The Ladycats also took the field Thursday, August 23 at Calvary Christian. The Ladycats got off to a slow start in this game. They were not winning 50/50 balls and as a result ran themselves more than they needed too.

The Ladycats were also unable to get their shots on target. Out of 14 shots on goal in the first half only one would fall. This goal would be attributed to Senior, Tori Fitzpatrick. Sophomore, McKayla Manor would run the ball down to the corner of the field. From there, she would make the pass to Tori giving her the assist.

After this goal was scored, the Ladycats would shift to a more defensive mind set. Being worn out from unnecessary running, would allow Calvary Christian to score a goal.

The Ladycats came out after half-time with a sense of determination to improve their play. They were much stronger this half winning the majority of 50/50 balls. This showed as the Ladycats became more of a threat offensively. They would come up with two more goals this half. Sophomore, Hailey Bishop would receive a ball kicked up from the defense and defeat Calvary Christians defense to score the first goal. McKayla Manor would score the second goal in the same fashion.

Despite these goals, the Ladycats were unable to hold Calvary Christian. They were still not committed to getting every first touch and this would put the Ladycats defense on the spot. The mid fielders were unable to recover on the defensive end leaving the defensive wings, stopper, sweeper and goalie to fend for themselves. This was simply too much for them to handle as Calvary Christian scored two more goals as well.

From the defense end you do have to commend a few players. Junior, Chelsea Brossart had quite the game. She was defensively strong, challenging each ball that came her way. She aggressively took runs down the field and would set the ball in positions to score.

Junior, Hannah Fields desperately tried to keep the ball away from Katie Gaskins. She ran hard to keep run outs from happening. She got in the way of most plays and cleared the ball well.

Junior, Katie Gaskins had a recorded 10 goalie saves. She worked hard running out to clear balls and scooping up everything she could. The Calvary Christian goals were placed well and were difficult for any goalie to reach. This game could've easily been a win for the Ladycats. Their biggest problem was simply not getting the first touches off 50/50 balls. Calvary Christian did not have many subs and to keep from wearing themselves out they would take that extra step forward to win these balls. The Ladycats let them and in turn found themselves getting tired. It all comes down to winning these balls.

The Ladycats final game of the week would be against Walton-Verona on Saturday, August 26. This game would end in a score of 8-2 in the Ladycats favor. The game was fast paced being on turf and again the coaches liked what they saw. The girls were able to do the same things they had worked on during the Paris game at an even faster speed. This is essential when it comes down to taking on these faster and better teams.

A throw in from Freshman, Madison Wirth would go soaring over the heads of the Walton-Verona defense. Senior, Tori Fitzpatrick would settle the ball to her feet and shoot the ball into the net to score the first goal. This would be Tori Fitzpatrick's fourth goal of the season.

The next goal came as a result of quick passing. Junior, Kaitlyn Meadows would dribble the ball down the field and see Madison Wirth open in front of her. After seeing the defense commit to her, Meadows would connect with Madison Wirth to score the second goal of the game. This would be Madison Wirth's second varsity goal of the season.

Sophomore, McKayla Manor would find the net too. Using her speed and foot skills to her advantage, she battled with the Walton-Verona defense. A few quick moves around them put her in the perfect position to score and score she did. This would be McKayla Manor's second varsity goal of the season.

Her third varsity goal would come soon after. The work of triangle passes and give and gos would bring the ball quickly down the field. Madison Wirth would pass up a goal opportunity to give McKayla Manor the better angled shot. This would pay off as the fourth goal of the game was scored.

Again the coaching staff looked to give other players the opportunity to play. This would prove to be a smart decision. Freshman, Sidney Dietrich would be on an offensive wing and would dribble the ball to the corner of the field. Once here, she would look up to see Sophomore, Amber Blackaby set up in the middle of the field. Using her left foot, Sidney made a beautiful pass that would assist Amber in her second goal of the season and the fifth goal of the game.

Sophomore, Hailey Bishop would then make a defensive stop and pass to Freshman, Erin Fitzpatrick. From here, Erin would use her speed and fancy foot work to pass the defense of Walton-Verona. She would tear down the middle to score the sixth and final goal of the first half. This would be Erin Fitzpatrick's third varsity goal of the season.

After half-time, the Ladycats looked to keep Walton-Verona from scoring a second time. However, Walton-Verona had a strong center mid and strong forward. These two girls found each other in the first half to score and would find each other once again in the second half to score.

These goals need to cease for the Ladycats to become the team they want to be. It is of high importance to keep other teams from scoring. The midfielders and forwards have to start getting back on defense every time and not just leaving the stopper, sweeper, defensive wings and goalie to deal with offensive attacks.

On this end, Junior, Chelsea Brossart would again have a strong defensive game. She was aggressive and took the initiative to challenge every ball that came her way. She worked in the rotation well knowing when to cut into the middle and when to stay out wide to cover open players. The coaches also saw Goalie, junior Katie Gaskins using more of her abilities. She was seen diving more this game. She was able to stretch out to cover a wider area of the goal. She was seen jumping higher. She was able to reach her gloves high enough to cut off the space between them and the top of the net. She was also seen challenging balls at the right time. One play left her with both the cleat and shin guard markings of a forward from Walton-Verona. All of these skills would keep an extra 10 shots from turning into goals.

Two more goals would be scored on the Ladycats offensive end. A corner kick taken by Hailey Bishop would curve into the net where McKayla Manor would throw her head into the ball for a goal. This would be McKayla Manor's third goal of the game and her fourth for the season. A hand ball in the box would give the Ladycats a penalty kick. Hailey Bishop would take it and come away with the eighth and final goal of the game. This would be Hailey Bishop's fourth goal of the season.

The JV Ladycats would also take on Walton-Verona and fall at a score 0-2. Madison Sydnor started out in the goalie box and had 5 saves in the first half of the game. Walton-Verona would score once this half with a kick from the middle of the field into the opposite post of the goal.

Amber Blackaby would take the goal in the second half of the game. She had 3 goalie saves. Walton-Verona would take a penalty kick as a result of a foul in the box. The ball would fall between the top of the net just out of reach of Ambers glove.

The Ladycats were only able to get off six shots on goal but none would fall for them. The Ladycats struggled to get first touches on 50/50 balls. They also had trouble increasing their speed of play on the turf field. This in combination with a lack of subs would leave the Ladycats worn out and unable to fulfill those things worked on during practice.

In a big match up, the Ladycat Golf team traveled to Canewood Golf Course in Georgetown to play a tri-match between the top three teams in the 8th region the last four years. They were joined by Scott County and Mason County.

The Ladycats played well and hard posting the 3rd 9-hole score in school history with a 176.

The Ladycats upperclassman duo of Senior Maggie Miles and Junior Ariel Ramsey led the way with a pair of 42's. Holley Hart, 8th grader, fired her personal best 9-hole score with a 43. Mackenzie Moore posted the 4th score for the Cats at a 49 after founding ob. Morgan Cobb also shot her best personal 9-hole score in the match.

Unfortunately, despite the valiant effort by the Ladycats, Scott County still came out with the best score at 166 and Mason County was 2nd at 168.

"It was a great effort by the Ladycats." Coach Keaton Belcher proudly commented about the Ladycats.

Wildcats shuffle lineup following losses

By: Sam McClanahan, Reporter

When the Pendleton County Wildcats soccer team learned that senior defender MacKenzie Colvin would be out 4-6 weeks following surgery to repair a fractured foot that he suffered in an August 18th loss at Highlands, it along with head coach Lisa Feltner knew that his presence in the lineup would be sorely missed.

The team hosted three home games last week and came away with just one victory. And the losses the club suffered showed a glaring weakness on the defensive side of the field. Colvin, playing the centerback position, is the anchor of the defense, and coach Feltner was very concerned about how her team would fair without her reliable senior.

Last Tuesday, the Pioneers of Simon Kenton faced off against the 'Cats and prevailed by a final of 3-1. Senior Aven Harper put the home team ahead 1-0 with a goal at the 24:38 mark in the first half. But following that, the contest was all Simon Kenton. The Pioneers tied the game four minutes later, and took the lead for good just eight seconds into the second half. Simon Kenton's offense was aggressive throughout the night, as it was able to dominate possession and keep the 'Cats defense on its heels for much of the game. Simon Kenton added an insurance goal with 31 minutes to play and cruised to the win.

Following the game a frustrated Feltner struggled to find any positives about her team's play. "We were terrible tonight," said Feltner. "Simon Kenton dominated us on both sides of the ball and I think we took them too lightly. Our effort was inexcusable and we're a much better team that this."

The 'Cats hoped to rebound last Thursday evening when they took on the undefeated Conner Cougars. However, things on the field went from bad to worse, and the Wildcats were crushed in a 6-1 final. Senior midfielder Clay Knight scored the 'Cats lone goal as the team along with its coach was left searching for answers on the defensive end.

The next day, that answer would be revealed. As coach Feltner sat and watched a freshmen game, she would be approached by junior midfielder and team captain Travis Brinkman. The two engaged in a conversation about the team's recent woes and Brinkman offered a solution, move him from offense to defense. Coach Feltner mulled over the proposal and concluded that it would be in the 'Cats best interest to make the adjustment.

"Travis is such a team player and he's willing to do whatever it takes to help us win games," said Feltner. "He and Aven form a great one-two punch on offense, but he knows that right now without MacKenzie that he is much more valuable on defense."

The Wildcats went into its game last Saturday against Villa Madonna with a new look, and the results paid off instantly as the team won 3-1. Aven Harper took a pass from senior Jacob Farwell and netted his team-leading fourth goal to give the 'Cats a 1-0 lead. In the second half, junior Max Dewald, who was moved to Brinkman's position as midfielder, scored twice as the 'Cats finally resembled the club that had played so well in the previous week. On defense, Brinkman's presense provided a spark for his fellow teammates, and the Wildcats didn't surrender a goal until the final five minutes of the game. Coincidentally, that goal came while Brinkman had already been pulled from the contest. Freshman Mason Cordray, who returned after suffering a concussion in the teams season opener against NewCath, also performed well.

"It feels great to get things back on track," said Feltner. "Having Travis on defense worked out as well as we could have hoped for. He's just an outstanding player. We also got a great performance from Max Dewald, and we are going to need him to step up to ensure that the offense doesn't fall off without Travis. It was also good to see Mason Cordray play well. He showed no signs of rust and he did a solid job in his first game back."

Feltner went on to say she will continue to make adjustments to the lineup as the team continues to move forward despite a number of injuries. Feltner admits that she has had to deal with more injuries to her players in the last few weeks than in her previous three seasons as head coach combined. "We have a lot of guys who are banged up, but we aren't going to make any excuses," she said. "It's better to go through this kind of thing early in the season as opposed to later on."

This week, the 'Cats will play a trio of road games, beginning tonight with a 5:30 p.m. matchup against Walton-Verona. Wednesday they travel to face Cooper High at 7:30 p.m. and will conclude the week with a Thursday night game at Rowan County.

Ladycat volleyball ranked second in 10th region

After a week that saw them lose a close 5-setter to Bellevue but roar back with a thumping on Grant County, according to the Riherd's scoreboard via KHSAA, Pendleton County's 8-2 volleyball record puts them in second place.

"The season has opened on a high note." Coach Laura Buck commented on her team's hot start.

She continued, "Normally when you combine new players with older ones, there is some struggle until they figure each other out. That is not the case with these girls. They seem to be meshing nicely."

The Ladycats came off their 1st place finish in the Glacier Invitational at Bracken County with a tough 5-set match against Bellevue who was 7-2 at the time.

They took the opening game 25-21 but dropped the next two 25-20, to fall behind two games to one.

But they fought back to win the 4th, 25-19 and force the 5th game tie-breaker that only goes to 15. It was a seesaw battle and with Bellevue holding a 12-10 lead, they ran off the last three points to take the 15-10 and 3-2 victory.

Sarah Schlueter led the way with 17 kills. Brianna Crouch was tough with the serve with five aces and also set up her teammates with 18 assists.

The Cats bounced back the next day with a romp over Grant County, 25-7, 25-14 to win the best of three match.

The Cats host Simon Kenton at PCHS today and travel to Deming on Thursday.

Sharp Wildcats Rout Brossart

Sharp opened the season at home with a 25-13 win against well prepared Bracken County squad and followed that up with a 48-6 rout of Brossart to start the season 2-0.

Against Bracken County, Sharp scored first with a 5 play 60 yd drive featuring a no huddle offense. Bracken answered with a long drive to knot the score. The Wildcats responded with a second drive for a score and were threatening at the end of the second quarter. Bracken County opened the third quarter with a drive resulting in a touchdown. The Cats were unfazed and went ahead at the end of the third quarter with a drive of their own to go ahead 19-13. The Cats had a big defensive stop in the 4th quarter at their own 35 yd line. They took over the ball and with 2:40 to go marched down field and scored to put the game away. It was a well-played game, first game of the season. The players have been working hard and have been successful in implementing Coach Brown's offensive and defensive schemes to prepare them for future varsity play. Austin Stull had a great game at QB rushing for 2 TD's and directing the offense. Griffin Appleman and Daniel Sanders each scored a TD for the Cats. Mike Dewald added a very strong kicking performance to aid the Cats and played an outstanding defensive game along with Austin Stull and Daniel Sanders. Success starts at the line of scrimmage and Sharp had very strong line play on both sides of the football and were thanked by their teammates for their fine play. Jerry Miller, Easton Cook, Chris Lovelace and Ethan White helped anchor the line.

The Cats took the field on Saturday August 25 in Bracken County against Bishop Brossart. The Cats got off to a slow start and found themselves behind 6-0 after a dropped snap during a punt allowing the Colts to take over on the Cats thirty yd line. The Colts drove into score. After that it was all Wildcats who scored 42 unanswered points in the air, on the ground and with special teams play. The Cats amassed 378 yds total offense and allowed the Colts less than 100 yds offense. Austin Stull had another fine game returning a punt for a TD, running for another and throwing 2 TD. Griffin Appleman provided two TD, Daniel Sanders and Logan Fugate also found the endzone. Colton Ball and Grant Hornbeck also scored on extra point conversions. The line play was again dominant with Ronnie Pennington having a fine defensive game and the offensive line as a unit dominating the line of scrimmage. The defense needs some work and we must continue to improve in order to compete in the league.

The games only get harder from here with NCC, Holy Cross and Tichenor still remaining on the schedule but behind the Coaching Staff of Walt Hornbeck, Monte Smith, John Field, Jim White and Ronnie Turner with the support of Varsity Coach Terry Brown, the Sharp Wildcats will be up to the task.

Youth football wins against Bracken

Drew Duff of the Pendleton Youth Football Program runs for the touchdown against Bracken County in the Edwardo's Classic. Pendleton won two of the three matchup versus Bracken County Wildcat Varsity Coach Terry Brown presented medallions to all players on both squads.

Weaver sets 9-hole school record

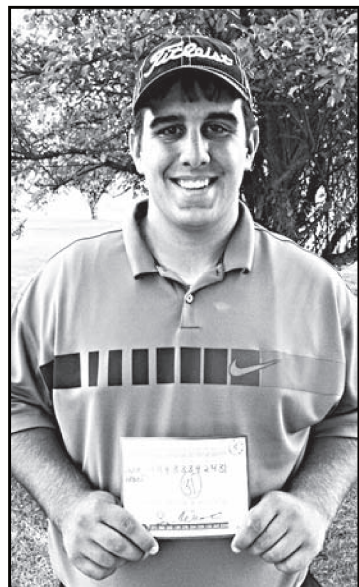

Last season, Lane Weaver shot a round of 4 under golf to tie Mark Browning and Andrew Spencer for the school record of a 9-hole round. His senior year, he now stands alone with a 31 with 5 birdies and 4 pars at Cynthiana Country Club in the Cats 157-179 victory over Harrison County.

His wasn't the only Cats' magic as junior Lance Jones holed out from 150 yards on the #2, par five for an eagle.

Saturday, the Cats played in the Mason County Invitational at Maysville Country Club home of the Mason County Royals and one of the favorites for the regional title. The Cats showed they were up to challenging Mason County with their 6th place finish with a 323. But that put them only 4 strokes behind 2nd place Mason County who shot a 319.

"I was real happy with the round on Saturday," Coach Ron Stinson commented on his team's finish. "When they saw how close they were, all the boys starting figuring out ways they could have picked up a stroke or two."

Lane Weaver continued his strong play with a 76 that placed him individually in 5th place.

Lane Weaver shot a record 9-holes at the Cynthiana Country Club.

Cody Kirsch fired a 78 that had him just out of the top 10 in 11th place. Wyatt Hatton played -1 or even par for most of the day but a couple holes later in the round got him and he shot an 86. Lance contributed the 4th score with an 82.

Wildcats lost to Ludlow 48-37

By Bruce Reller, Jr., Reporter

The Pendleton County High School Wildcats made a run in the second half against Ludlow last Friday, August 24. However, in the end, PC came up short in the road contest by a score of 48-37.

"We came out and played with a lot more emotion in the second half," Wildcats head coach Terry Brown said. "We just put ourselves in too big of a hole to fight out of. We need to learn how to put an entire game together, instead of just a half."

Junior quarterback Adam Koeninger was 6 for 17 passing for 113 yards, and he threw two touchdowns for Pendleton County. Senior Austin Pyles rushed the ball 16 times for 88 yards.

Also, junior Kyle Silbersack rushed 12 times for 202 yards and had two receptions for 89 yards. He had four returns for 136 yards, totaled 427 in all purpose yards, one interception, and six touchdowns.

"Kyle Silbersack gave a tremendous effort with over 425 all purpose yards and six touchdowns, plus an interception on defense," Brown explained. "It was one of the best single game performances that I have seen from a player. Our offensive line was giving him some huge holes to cutback in our zone offense and wide receivers were doing a great job at giving some blocks downfield."

Brown went on to say that his Wildcats need to get better defensively, and that starts with him and their schemes. But he is proud of the character his team is showing.

Announcements: Back to church Sunday, September 16. Bring someone who hasn't been to church in a while.

In John 15:10-11 the key-word is joy. Joy is a by product of becoming a born again Christian. He wants you to be a happy Christian and to know you are the apple of His eye. What must we do to be a happy Christian? You must abide in Christ, Commune with Christ, study His Word and walk with Christ. He doesn't always give us our hearts desires, but He does provide what we need.

The Kentucky Baptist Convention is encouraging everyone to get out and exercise your freedom and obligation to vote in this upcoming important election. Remember that is one of the freedoms our military men and women are fighting for.

We missed pastor David, on Sunday, as he was with his family after the death of his grandfather. Our sincere sympathy to David and his family. Many thanks to Judy Wright who conducted the service in his absence. She called upon the congregation to help out by remembering ways that they have seen the Lord at work in their lives. It was a meaningful service.

After the service a good portion of the congregation was headed off to the ol' ball game at the Great American Ballpark for faith day. After the Reds won their game against the Cubs 5-4, Mercy Me took to the field and presented a heartwarming concert. It was a memorable day from start to finish.

Our church is grieving the death of Nevelyn Black who passed away on Saturday, August 18 after a brief onset of cancer. Services were held at the church on Friday. Our sympathy to Nevelyn's family. She will be missed here.

Hope all are getting ready for Charge Conference on September 9.

Please come and join us for services this Sunday. We will miss you if you don't!

FALMOUTH BAPTIST
Labor Day is approaching and people will set a new pace as fall comes our way. We encourage you to make worship a part of your routine. If you are seeking a place of worship, we invite you to worship with us at the corner of Fourth and Maple.

Sunday's message was taken from Luke 19:1-10. Zacchaeus was a man with a good job and plenty of money, but there was still a void in his life that could only be filled by Jesus. In the midst of a great crowd Jesus chose to recognize Zacchaeus who was earnestly seeking Him. Zacchaeus acknowledged the wrongdoing in his life and vowed to make it right. The Lord was pleased with him!

Each of us has made poor choices in life. God help us to acknowledge them and turn to Jesus for forgiveness and fulfillment!

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN
This past Sunday tuned out to be quite an event of worship, special music, food and honors.

Our own Casey Staten and Jeff Vanlandingham, her piano teacher, brought our special music by playing three duets on the piano. Casey did a great job. We were so proud of her. Jeff always does a superior job, and he does a great job teaching the children.

Bro. Rick brought our message on "Extreme disobedience" from the book of Jonah 1:1-17 and 2:1-10.

Mrs. Wanda Ray, a long time member of our church, advised our congregation a couple Sundays ago she will moving to Georgetown to be closer to her son and grandchildren and will be caring for her mother in her residence. She did so much work for the church behind the scene. To show appreciation for her hard work and dedication to the Falmouth Christian Church, our church family honored her during the morning service and prepared a surprise luncheon in her honor. We had a great attendance. She has been a great worker in our church, and she will be sadly missed.

There are those with so many needs that need our prayers. Have a prayer time each day to remember others who are going through sickness, losses, trials and hardships. Prayer can change the world. Become a believer and know all things are possible when we put God first in our lives. Have a blessed week!

At the age of 78 Joe is one of the most vital people you'll ever meet. Oh, he's got his share of aches and pains, but Joe is always young at heart, where it really counts.

When his wife passed away ten years ago, Joe began looking for ways to fill his time. He heard they needed volunteers at the youth shelter, so he went to see what he could do. He became a foster grandparent to Jimmy, a 16-year old from a broken home. It wasn't easy, but he stuck with it. After a while Jimmy accepted Joe's friendship, and they discovered they enjoyed a lot of the same things. After Jimmy grew up, there was Rob. And now that Rob's off to school, Joe's turning his attention to young Michael. "You know," he said, "There's always someone who needs you. Just look around and you'll find them."

FIRST BAPTIST
We were blessed with special music this week by Adam Crozier. It was great to have Bro. Gerald Robinson and Cheryl as visitors.

Bro. Harry's message was taken from Hebrews. When we feel like our situation is hopeless, hope is all we have. We must know the word of God for us to live right in God's eyes. God is not unjust; He will not forget the love you have shown Him as you have helped His people. Don't become lazy, be an active Christian by spreading His Word and leading others to Him.

We know that prayer changes things. Pray for the lost, those who are facing illness, those who have lost loved ones, our military and their families.

"Prayer is the key to heaven; faith opens doors!"

HARVEST COMMUNITY
Damian's message was titled "All the things we can remove from our daily life" based on the scripture text of John 3:14-21. When we share the gospel with others, our love must be like Jesus'. Willingly giving up our own comfort and security so that others might join us in receiving God's love.

Twenty five youth and adults attended the Reds game and Faith day concert and had a great time. What a blessing!

Prayer concerns are Baby Noah Helton, Michelle and Jay Caldwell, Renee Fardo, Steve Hartzel and the families of Judy Gregg, Gladys Pugh and Nevelyn Black.

We invite you to join us for worship at 111 E. Shelby Street, Sundays. Bible study begins at 9:30 a.m., worship services 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m. and youth group 6 p.m. and Wednesday prayer service at 6 p.m.

"Sharing the love of Jesus in a practical way." Come as you are!

MORGAN CHRISTIAN
Our sermon came from Ephesians 5:15-20. "In Christ in time" The world today is rapidly changing and so are our own lives. Partly due to changes made for us and partly due to decisions we make, right or wrong. We get so busy chasing the American dream that we want change now and not have to wait. But if we will be patient and wait on God, He always has a better plan for us than we could ever imagine.

Our thanks to Kelly Maxedon and Steve Work for their beautiful song "Glorious Day." Also thanks to Adriana, Tony, Jack and Josie for sharing their sweet voices to the service.

Our prayers to Charlie Butler who has now been moved back to St. Elizabeth South. Special prayers to all on our prayer list, our military and our country.

MT. CARMEL
On August 24-25 several women from our church attended the Women of Faith Conference which was held in Indianapolis.

Our fall revival will be September 16-19 with Evangelist Bro. Mike Jones.

God has answered our prayers and has brought Matt Dade and the rest of the brave men and women home safely! Matt has been deployed serving his country in Iraq.

We at Mt. Carmel Baptist Church want to say "Welcome home 1204TH ASB Kentucky National Guard, Thank You for your service."

If you are looking for a church home we would love to have you. We invite you to visit our website www.themcbc.com. Sunday: Sunday School, all ages, from 10-11 a.m.; morning service from 11 a.m.-12 p.m.; and Children's mission, choir practice and discipleship training, soul surfer study youth from 5:30-6:30 p.m. Wednesday: Bible study and Prayer meeting, children's mission and youth of Christ at 7 p.m.

MT. GILEAD
Some days everything goes off just as planned, sometime things happen to change plans. Well, that happened to me last Sunday. The annual meeting of Mt. Gilead went off as planned, but different, with last minute adjustments we had a good day.

I want to give a special "thanks" to those who came and those who brought the great food.

Abdule and Jon Budalla got there okay. They met Jonathan at Antioch Church, otherwise they would've never found the church.

John's songs, music and stories were great. The sad part, were the difficulties he was having trying to get his son here from the East. However, he cheered us with his skills of playing the piano. Oh, did I mention he doesn't have arms below the elbow.

I feel so fortunate to have known the young men since they arrived at Galilean Home years ago.

Yes we are blessed and don't really know it until someone less fortunate as ourselves.

MT. MORIAH
Mt. Moriah has Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 10:45 a.m. and children's church at 11 a.m., up to age 10. Phone us at 472-5910. Our address is 314 Hwy 17N, Butler, Ky. Pastor is Rev. Darrell Breedon. Ladies Aid is the third Thursday of each month.

Rev. Jeremias Bonnell said, "Soldiers of Jesus Christ, take up the arms which the Apostle has set before you, cover yourselves with them from head to foot, seize the sword of the Word of God, wield it courageously and victory will be assured and after the victory, the crown."

NEW ZION
Come join us for worship. Sunday school starts at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening worship is at 6:30 p.m. Bible study is at 7 p.m. on Thursdays.

Upcoming opportunities include: A WMU and deacons meeting at 6 p.m., September 2; Fall Revival will be September 7, 8 and 9; and a hot dog roast at 7 p.m. on September 22.

Other prayer concerns include Randy Wells, Juanita King, Michelle Caldwell, Patty Oaks, Renee Fardo, Bill Spence, Cindy Sebastian, Hilda Angell, Betty Ammerman, Debbie Viers, Charles Lee Ramsey, Janet Bishop, shut-ins, armed forces, and our nation.

TRINITY
Blessings from Trinity! Hoping everyone has had a wonderfully blessed week. Have you taken the time to count your blessings? Have you thanked God for your blessings? When we go to God in prayer, does it turn into a want list? Prayer is a spiritual battle, not a want list.

God is every humans creator, but He is not every humans Father. Every time a great crisis came to Jesus, the very first thing He would do was pray to His heavenly Father, time after time. Every time. In Matthew 6: 9-13, Jesus taught his disciples how to pray. Pastor Hefner's message showed me that I needed to be taught how to pray the way God will be magnified! Truly study God's word and see the differences between God's Kingdom and the Kingdom of God. God's will, and the will of God. God wants to be every person's Father! That is His desire! It should be our desire too!

TURNER RIDGE
We celebrated the ordinance of baptism, August 19, welcoming Phyllis Gross into our fellowship.

Uncle Dale led the children's message and Rosie Duncan read scripture from I John 3: 1-3.

Brandon Gregg brought special music and Bro. Dale's sermon "Life, Rejoicing, Glory" explained to us what lies ahead.

"Blessed is the man who perseveres under trial, because when he has stood the test, he will receive the crown of life that God has promised to those who love him." James 1:12, and "For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing?" I Thessalonians 2:19. Accept by faith "And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away." I Peter 5:4

Turner Ridge extends Christian sympathy to the Gregg family, Judy was a member of our church for 70 years, and she taught many generations to let their light shine!

SHELLEY MEYER, 4-H/YOUTH DEVELOPMENT

Teaching Self-Discipline to Children

Instilling self-discipline in children will provide them with tools necessary for achieving success in the classroom and throughout life. Parents are a key factor in helping youths become good at disciplining themselves and local 4-H programs can be helpful as well.

A recent research study of 204 eighth-graders focused on the relationship between the youngsters' self-discipline and their school achievement. Researchers found that self-discipline, when measured in the fall of the school year, had more than twice as much effect on students' final grades in the spring as their measured IQ or scores on national achievement tests.

Students' capacity to discipline themselves also influenced their school attendance record, the number of hours spent doing homework, and the time of day they started doing their homework. The study's results are encouraging for hardworking but not brilliant youngsters. Student intelligence is not nearly as important in doing well in school as their ability to discipline themselves to study and complete home and school tasks well.

Parents should stay calm in their discipline and expectations, even when kids complain. Plenty of praise should be shown for a job well done. Also, parents should encourage their children to participate in activities that will help develop self-discipline.

4-H activities are an excellent way for children to develop a sense of responsibility. One area where this quality is quickly learned is with animal projects, whether that be caring for a dog, rabbit or steer. These activities require young people to develop a daily routine of caring for their animals by feeding and cleaning up after them. Developing this routine is necessary for the health and welfare of the animal and helps youth understand the importance of disciplining themselves to do these tasks.

Through the 4-H program, young people are also guided in the correct ways of doing tasks, whether it be baking a cake or feeding a market lamb. As youngsters learn these guidelines, they also grasp the reasons why it is important to do something a certain way. Knowing the reasons why can make the careful methods more understandable.

The discipline learned through 4-H projects can be transferred to all aspects of children's lives as they grow to adulthood. College admissions officials like seeing 4-H listed as an extracurricular activity on entrance applications, according to the state 4-H office. Being a part of 4-H shows that the students have developed personal skills in thinking for themselves, applying sound reasoning to solve practical problems and completing complex tasks.

For more information about how you can become involved in 4-H, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

KENNA KNIGHT, FAMILY AND CONSUMER SCIENCES

Lessen stress by learning to control it

Everyone knows how stress feels. Stress makes it difficult to meet the challenges associated with everyday life. Daily, people deal with stress from meeting deadlines, appointments and balancing home and work schedules. Coupled with everyday issues, life changing events such as a death in the family, moving, career change or family problems can cause additional stress.

The human body can take a certain amount of stress, but the level varies with each individual. It's important for you to be in tune with your body and realize when the stresses in your life are reaching uncontrollable levels and leading to distress. Distress can cause you to become ill, injured or depressed.

It is impossible for you to control all the stresses in your life, but fortunately, you can control or lessen many of the common stressors to prevent distress. The process for gaining control over stress includes knowing the signs and symptoms of distress, identifying contributing factors, developing ways to manage contributing factors and carrying out a plan to minimize stress.

Stress can be difficult for some to diagnose because there are many signs and symptoms which can be indicators of other health issues. Signs and symptoms associated with stress can affect the mental, behavioral, emotional, spiritual or physical aspects of your life and run the gamut from inability to concentrate to loneliness or fatigue.

You should step back and examine your life to determine the events and situations that could be contributing to stress. Issues such as financial difficulty, divorce or separation between family members, changes at work, loss of friends and medical problems in the family can all be contributing factors.

Once contributing factors are determined, you along with friends and family should brainstorm ways to prevent the stress associated with the factors from occurring. It could be something as simple as making sure you get enough sleep at night, or it could be a more complicated change, such as refocusing your priorities.

After determining ways to limit stress, you must then implement changes in your life. Set goals for implementation. Implementation can be immediate or over a period of time, whichever is the most comfortable for you. Developing a network of support can also help. Determine a time to reevaluate stresses and celebrate any progress you make.

The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service's publication, "Calming the Storm: Process for Gaining Control over Stress" contains more detailed information on stress management. For more a copy of the publication or for more information on stress management resources available in your community, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

By: Lovina Eicher

It is 5:15 a.m. and our 18-year-old daughter, Elizabeth just left for her job at the factory. My husband Joe left over an hour ago for his job. Elizabeth started at the factory a couple of weeks ago. She works five days a week. Her cleaning job didn't have enough days of work each week for her. At the factory they make camping trailers. I miss Elizabeth's good help here at home, but Susan and Verena are done detasseling corn now so they can help.

School doors will open in a few weeks. The six youngest will all be in school then. This will be Verena's last year, Kevin will be in the first grade, Lovina in second, Joseph in fourth, Loretta in sixth and Benjamin in seventh. Time is going by too fast!

Yesterday was a long but enjoyable day as we were attending the wedding of Albert Jr. and Louanna.

It is a little bit harder to get started today after such a long day yesterday. I was a cook at the wedding. I was happy that I managed to get my new dress sewn before the wedding. We had to wear a hunter green colored dress. Elizabeth and her friend Timothy were table waiters. She had to wear a dark sage colored dress. Makes it so much easier for me since she has learned to cut out and sew her own dress, cape and apron. She worked on it afternoons after work.

We hired a driver to go the 22 miles to Albert's for the wedding while Timothy and Elizabeth drove it with the horse and buggy. It took them a little over two hours to get there but they made it back home in one hour and 45 minutes. Seems the horse always knows when it is coming back home and wants to travel faster.

The cooks are all assigned different jobs and my job was to help make gravy. My sisters Liz and Emma were also assigned to this job. We made many gallons and gallons of gravy for the day. Then we also had to help the table waiters at "table 9" wash their dishes after each setting.

The couple had 24 table waiters to wait on the 12 tables. A boy and a girl were assigned to each table. 300 people could be served at one time. A delicious meal was served for both meals, the noon dinner and evening supper. On the menu was grilled chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, mixed vegetables, salad, homemade bread, butter and grape jelly, grape jello pudding, mixed fruit and pecan, peanut butter and apple pie. For the evening meal they had baked chicken instead of grilled, ice cream and strawberries instead of mixed fruit, with most of the rest the same menu as during the day.

It really rained around noon but it quit and was cloudy. Made the weather cool for us cooks who work in the wedding wagon. With seven stoves going in there it seemed pleasant with the nice breeze the rain brought.

Supper was at 5:30 p.m. for the adults and 7 p.m. for the youth. After the meal the youth sang songs the couple chose to sing. While singing, the wedding cake was cut and passed around. Our ride to go home came at 8:30 p.m. Certain couples were assigned to get the wedding dishes back into the wedding wagon. Wedding wagons sure make it a lot easier to not have to use one's own pots, pans and dishes for the wedding. It also comes with tables, stoves and a cooler. The church benches are used for seating.

On Monday, sister Emma and I went to Albert's to make crusts for the peanut butter and pecan pies. Jacob and Emma had church services at their place on Sunday so the last two weeks have been extra busy ones. Today, washing laundry and canning tomato juice is on our list. I will share a recipe made for our breakfast recently. I like to try different recipes, this one is called country brunch skillet. I used, peeled and cooked potatoes out of our own garden, but you can use frozen.

INGREDIENTS:

- 6 strips of bacon
- 6 cups frozen hashed browns
- 3 1/4 cup chopped green pep pers
- 1 1/2 cup chopped onion

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 6 eggs
- 1 1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese

COUNTRY BRUNCH SKILLET

DIRECTIONS:

Large skillet over medium heat cook bacon until crisp. Remove bacon, crumble and set aside. Drain, reserving two tablespoons of drippings. Add potatoes, peppers, onions, and salt to drippings. Cook and stir for two minutes. Cover and cook and drain occasionally until potatoes are brown and tender about 15 minutes. Make six wells in the hashed brown mixture, break one egg into each well. Cover and cook over low heat for six to eight minutes or until eggs are set. Sprinkle with bacon and cheese.

FIRE SALE
UPDATE: "SMOKE FROM FIRE NEXT DOOR" AT CONRAD'S
The store building next to Conrad's burned June 17, 2012. Conrad's store was engulfed with smoke from that fire. There were no flames in the store. There was no fire fighting or water in the store. The insurance is settled and Conrad's is holding a FIRE LIQUIDATION SALE!
Store inventory includes a large selection of furniture, appliances, gifts, decorative accessories, hardware and RadioShack products. All are at discount prices. The entire inventory will be liquidated at Smoke Discounted Prices. Store fixtures and displays are also being discounted and closed out.
The store has more than 260 items of Fenton Art Glass including four Fenton lamps. Every Fenton item is discounted. As many of you know, Fenton is no longer producing art glass. Conrad's will provide a final relief for your craving. Please visit the store, select your favorites and take them home at reduced prices. Come soon for the best selection.
Normal business hours are Monday - Friday: 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday: 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. During this closeout sale the store will be open most Sundays from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Because there are some rapid changes being made in my business and my life, store hours are not absolutely regular. If you are driving significant miles, please call before coming to Falmouth. Please call if I can help you with driving directions.
I have been selling at Fire Sale prices for several days. Business has been very good. At this writing there are 13 recliners, seven sofa/chair sets, eight curio cabinets, two bedroom suites and a large assortment of living room tables and furniture accessories.
When this total liquidation sale is completed, Conrad's store will be closing!
